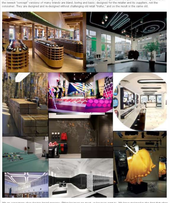
It's not a great start. We want to think you are in it strategy, an advertisement, an e-zoom, or fantasy. The great retail stories are about the experience, the emotion, the sensation, the memory. Retail is theatre, and the stage is set for the ultimate performance. Lights, cues, and lots of cool sound effects will provide some of the necessary ambiance. But the real star is the product. The hero. The retail equivalent of Harry Potter (or Harry Winston). Because if the retailer and his customer, and the product, don't have a relationship, then the whole thing is just a bunch of boring boxes. Or worse.



We are obsessed. And, by the time we're done, you will be, too. Welcome to Power Shops. We have explored the New York shops and we've found the best of the best. Some of them are big, some are small, and some are a little bit of both. Some are in the middle of nowhere, and some are in the middle of everywhere. Some are in New York, and some are in Paris.
