WakuWaku Dammtor

[Interior Design]

The fast-food restaurant WakuWaku Dammtor in Hamburg organised a relaunch with the aim of also positioning itself as an organic food store. The design approach visualises this through an open façade providing an unrestricted view of space. Almost entirely encased in solid wood panelling, this space serves as a stage to display the products in the WakuWaku world. The rough wooden surfaces contrast with a canopy of fine wire lamps and intricate wall sketches created by the artist Chris Rehberger using taut strings.
